3. ☐ At least one amendment has been filed subsequent to the final rejection, and the brief does not contain a statement of the status of each such amendment (37 CFR 41.37(c)(1)(iv)).
4. ☒ (a) The brief does not contain a concise explanation of the subject matter defined in each of the independent claims involved in the appeal, referring to the specification by page and line number and to the drawings, if any, by reference characters; and/or (b) the brief fails to: (1) identify, for each independent claim involved in the appeal and for each dependent claim argued separately, every means plus function and step plus function under 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph, and/or (2) set forth the structure, material, or acts described in the specification as corresponding to each claimed function with reference to the specification by page and line number, and to the drawings, if any, by reference characters (37 CFR 41.37(c)(1)(v)).
5. ☒ The brief does not contain a concise statement of each ground of rejection presented for review (37 CFR 41.37(c)(1)(vi)).

Continuation of 10. Other (including any explanation in support of the above items): As for #4, the brief does not contain a concise explanation of the subject matter defined in each independent claim, referring to the specification by page and line number. Specifically, the appeal brief recites the literal claim language of groups of independent claims and then separately cites specific passages of the specification that support the grouping of recited claims, without specifically referencing the claim limitations. Therefore, the appeal brief does not specifically point out, using the specification, a concise explanation of each independent claim. Further, with respect to #4-6, the Appeal Brief groups by claims, rather than by headings. The Appeal Brief does not set forth all grounds of rejection presented for review under a single, separate heading, all arguments under a single, separate heading, and all the concise explanation of subject matter of the independent claims under one separate heading.
